Siem Reap, Cambodia is a country that is firmly putting its past behind to embrace the 21st century and emerging as a vibrant tourist travel destination. It offers an opportunity to step into ancient history, get off the beaten track into a lush rural countryside and to immerse in a charming culture. It is a country where crumbling colonial buildings and tuk-tuks (motorized rickshaws) are juxtaposed with 5 star boutique hotels and trendy restaurants and spas.

Cambodia is bordered by Thailand, Laos and Vietnam and in its turbulent past, was invaded by two of its neighbors several times. It shares the powerful Mekong River with Laos and Vietnam. The river enters the country from Laos in the North, and in its southbound journey almost divides Cambodia into halves.

The Mekong splits off into two at Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, before ending in Vietnam. One of its tributaries feeds Tonle Sap (Great Lake), the largest fresh water lake in Southeast Asia, which lies south of Siem Reap, the town closest to the Angkor temple complex.

Clothing: With a Tropical Climate, sunglasses, a cap, sunscreen and comfortable loose clothing is the best. Many of the temples we will visit are still places of worship and modest clothing will be required. A light scarf to wrap around bare shoulders is a good idea, and best to avoid short dresses and skirts and sports shorts.

Weather: The dry season in Cambodia runs from October to April, and the wet season from May until September, with the heaviest rainfall generally in August & September. Average temperatures range from 24°C in the cooler months of October, November & December to 35°C at the hottest time of the year from March until June.

Currency: Riel (KHR) & USD

Electricity: 220 volts, 50 HZ

FLOWERS & KRAMA

DETAILS

Welcome at airport by Khmer ladies in traditional costume with a gift flower garland and "Krama" on arrival.

Khmer people traditionally wear a checkered scarf called a Krama. The "krama" is what distinctly separates the Khmer (Cambodians) from their neighbors the Thai, Vietnamese, and Laotians. The scarf is used for many purposes including protection from the sun, climbing trees, as a hammock for infants, a towel, or a "sarong".

FCC - FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS CLUB

Located in the former French Governor's residence, the FCC (Foreign Correspondents' Club) Angkor is an elegant establishment with a modern Indochina feel. The restaurant serves an eclectic combination of Asian and western dishes, (the same as the famous original FCC in Phnom Penh), serving up Cambodian classics such as fish amok and lok lak saich whilst catering for an international clientele. This class of gourmet food, as well as the ambience, makes FCC one of the most popular restaurants in Siem Reap. Take a seat on the terrace, overlooking the verdant gardens and the bustling main street, to make the most of this charming venue.

CUISINE WAT DAMNAK

DETAILS

Opened in 2011 by chef Johannes Rivieres, Cuisine Wat Damnak represents the culmination of Rivieres's knowledge of Khmer cuisine, while still offering many creative surprises. Having earned his stripes and made his name at Hotel de la Paix, Rivieres pioneered the hotel's tasting menu.

At Cuisine Wat Damnak, he continues to tailor two tasting menus a week, bringing many exciting flavor combinations to his diners. Here, the focus is not on traditional Cambodian dishes, but on sourcing local seasonal produce, such as edible flowers, kuy fruit and fish found only in the Mekong River and Tonle Sap Lake. This makes for a unique dining experience showcasing the best in contemporary Khmer gastronomy.

MARUM

DETAILS

Marum is a social enterprise that opened its gate in 2009 and is a training restaurant for vulnerable young adults from orphanages and safe shelters, as well as underprivileged young adults from very rural poor areas.

By teaching them quality work skills as well as important life skills, we support these young people in their transition from institution to real world as well as giving them a chance to step out of the poverty cycle.

Marum is named after the Moringa, or 'Tree of life' - very appropriate, as customers will be enjoying a fantastic dining experience that helps build a new life for the students in training there!

ANGKOR - THE GRAND TOUR

DETAILS

Situated between the Tonle Sap lake and the Kulen Mountains, Angkor contains the magnificent remains of several capitals of the Khmer Empire and served as the seat of the Empire, which flourished from approximately the 9th to 15th centuries.

At its zenith the city boasted a population of one million people, the largest preindustrial city in the world.

The Angkor Temple Complex is the largest religious monument in the world at over 400 sq km and more than a thousand temples.

Still today it is the spiritual heart of Cambodia, and can be found on its flag and currency.

ANGKOR - THE GRAND TOUR - PRIVATE MONK'S BLESSING CEREMONY

DETAILS

Water blessings are a traditional Cambodian practice that date back to ancient times, Despite being performed by Buddhist monks, the ceremony is not faith related. In Cambodia where Buddhism is practiced by around 90% of the population, it is a common sight to see monks in orange cloth chanting prayers and offering showers of blessings in temples.

You too can be part of this ritual where you receive blessings of luck and longevity from monks in a temple.

In this ritual, the monks chant blessings of good luck and safety ,followed by light sprinkles of water

TA PROHM

DETAILS

Unlike most of the temples of Angkor, Ta Prohm has been largely left to the clutches of the jungle. The interaction between nature and man-made art, this atmospheric temple is a favorite for many. Construction on Ta Prohm began in 1186 AD.

A rare inscription at Ta Prohm provides statistics on the temple's workers. Allowing for some exaggeration, the inscription's report of around 80,000 workers, including 2700 officials and 615 dancers, is still astounding.

Ta Prohm's popularity has soared in recent years along with the rest of the Angkor complex, but especially because of its appearance in the movie Lara Croft: Tomb Raider.

ANGKOR WAT - THE TEMPLE WITH AN ART HISTORIAN

DETAILS

Constructed in the early 12th century (between 1113 and 1150), Angkor Wat is considered to be the largest religious monument in the world. To put things in perspective Angkor Wat is four times the size of the Vatican City. Plus, the entire city of Angkor used more stone than all the Egyptian pyramids combined, and spread over an area larger than modern-day Paris.

We will be guided around Angkor Wat with the help of a Historian Expert Guide - to get a deeper understanding of the Art, archaeology and mythology behind one of the world's most famous monuments.

ETHICAL SHOPPING - SENTEURS D'ANGKOR

DETAILS

Visit the organic and locally produced "Senteurs d'Angkor".

All made by hand, using traditional techniques and extracts derived from plant oils and 100 % natural ingredients to create delicately perfumed oils, body creams, scrubs and bath salts. Tease your taste buds with fine spices including authentic Khmer curry, lemongrass, cinnamon, chili and famous Kampot pepper.

Senteurs d'Angkor prides itself on sourcing all of its products in Cambodia, from raw ingredients to packaging materials. In line with the philosophy of 'home-sourcing', most of the packaging comes from the sugar palm tree, an abundant, natural and recyclable resource in Cambodia.

This philosophy ensures that jobs and incomes stay within Cambodia, helping to address the country's poverty and reduce dependence on imports. Senteurs d'Angkor employ 110 people and provide regular work to another 100 people, mostly women from the rural area, 10% of the workshop staff are handicapped, and all benefit from good work conditions.
